Genus Hot Plate Professional Adaptor Bars System

The Genus GMBHP hot plate professional adaptor rod system was designed with the new generation of large sensor video cameras such as the SonyF3 and Panasonic AF100 in mind.

By utilising industry standard 15 mm rods the shoulder mount ensures compatibility with other accessories. You can accessorise your camera with the easy attachment of matte boxes, and follow focuses.

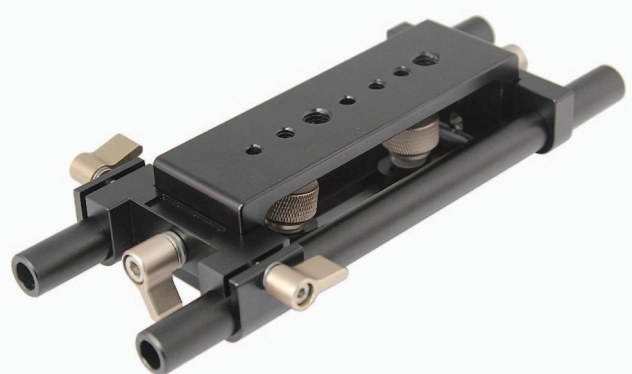

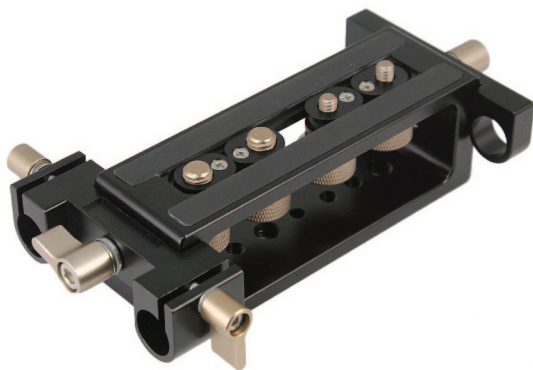

Manufactured from aviation grade aluminium makes the rig both strong and light weight. The hot plate comes with a selection of camera screws to suit a wide range of cameras.

The height of the rods can be varied by changing the orientation and fixing point of the rod support bracket.

Features

- Easy to grip lock-offs that tighten and loosen gently
- Non-slip rubber strips on the backplate helps prevent movement and damage to your camera
- 15mm light weight industry standard to accommodate a wide range of accessories
- Variable rod height via orientation and fixing point of rod support bracket
- Rods can be elongated by attaching extra bars into the specially designed threaded cores
